History

On September 4, 1956, between showers, four homesick little girls descended on the C&O Nurses Home with various trunks, boxes, teddy bears and high school pennants.

We were greeted by the merry tinkle of the cash register with Mrs. Payne presiding like J. P. Morgan himself.

We were next greeted by a most professional Miss Ricks and Miss Reynolds in their starched white uniforms - Every young girls dream.

For the rest of the week we partied, toured, and tripped over our own white nurses oxfords we were so proudly breaking in. We thought, "Nursing is the life for us."

The following week we were weighted down by books the size of encyclopedias and expected to recite them the next day. Our idea of nursing had changed. No one told us it would be like this.

We learned to pronounce twenty-six word letters with hardly any mistakes. We also learned how to read comic books during study hour without being disturbed by the Warden of Third Hall, Mrs. Dondley.

After two months of drilling and constant instruction we were allowed to fill water pitchers and our only friends were the maids and orderlies.

Six months later on March 4, 1957, fifteen proud girls received their caps. We didn't think that we could do it. Now our status had improved somewhat - we were expected to know as much as the graduates.

So we struggled through the first year at C&O. Vacations approached rapidly (much needed too) along with affiliations.

We poor little freshmen were overcome by the magnificence of the Greenbrier at our first Holly Ball.

Then came affiliation at Spring Grove State Hospital. We returned feeling like liscensed psychiatrists, diagnosing everyone in sight. We were convinced everyone was crazy but me and thee, and we weren't sure about thee.

We begged off from work at the Medical College of Virginia and attended the Holly Ball. Sandra Pivont was crowned Queen. The Holly Ball was a big success.

Classes started again on March 15, 1958. The dreaded comprehensives and of course Professional adjustments. Graduation neared and work began on the annual. (Oh! the hair we pulled out). With everything in full swing, we leave the beat-up furniture, leaking ceilings, the bathroom of second floor with shower nozzle off and our ragged uniforms to the incoming seniors. We wish you all the best of luck and may you have success and happiness in your chosen profession. We hope that you will enjoy nurses training as much as we have.

Last Will and Testament

We, the graduating class of 1959, being of reasonably sound mind, do thereby bequeath our last will and testament.

To the nurses home, we leave the linen stowed away in our closets, the coffee cups under the sink table, and the spoons in the medicine cabinet.

To the Juniors, we leave our charge duty on South 111, worn uniforms, and ragged belts.

To the Freshmen, we leave our ability to keep 4th hall roaring with excitement and any old discarded boy friends.

To the Pre-Clinicals, we leave our books and study hours, in hopes that you will use them.

I, Jackie Unroe, do will my ability to drink cokes to anyone who has the money to buy them.

I, Ethel Mae Grimes, do will my ability to stay up past 11:00 to anyone who can get by with it. - I couldn't.

I, Patsy Powell, do will my ability to feed crackers to my boyfriend, in the kitchen, to someone who has better luck than I did.

I, Nancy King, do will my love for the country to all the soft city girls.

I, Annamarie Carmean, do will my unicaps and peanut butter sandwiches to Jenny Irvine in hopes that they put more weight on her bones than they did on mine.

I, Nancy Keller, do will my dancing to Elaine Leisher, except the mambo.

I, Laura Dick, do will my luck in love and marriage to all the girls concentrating on matrimony.

I, Ella Mae Simmons, do will my ability to write a letter every night to anyone who wants to do it.

I, Jeanie Tyree, do will my five learner's permits to anyone who can drive better than I can.

I, Mary Varney, do will my nightly trips to the corner to Doris Farrar.

I, Sandra Pivont, do will my love for food and my ability to eat and not gain weight to the dieting supervisors.

I, Iva Zollman, do will my ability to be married, live in the nurses' home, and still spend a couple days a week at home to anyone who can keep up with this schedule.

I, Carolyn Powell, do will my quiet ways and ability to get along with the supervisors to Brenda DiGrassi.

I, Janice Berry, do will nothing, leave nothing, to anyone who has less than this.

Time: 1969

Place: The Moon

Event: Reunion of the Class of 1959

Gee, but it is cool here on the moon today. It's a good thing we have these fur capes that Annamarie brought us as a souvenir from Alaska. She is pediatric nurse for a whole village of igloos up there.

Who is the neat little hostess so anxiously awaiting our landing. Why it looks like - it is Carolyn Powell. We always thought she was kidding when she said she wanted to be a space nurse.

Oh, no! Look, that cute couple in the bright red space ship is getting a ticket for speeding. They look familiar; maybe they are from earth, too. Oh, it's Johnny and Murph. Who's that couple in the back seat, Murph? Your twins? Well we hadn't heard. Congratulations!

Let's find out who this couple is that's been over there on the shore basking in moonglow. It's Soapy and Jeanie and I do believe they are wearing wedding bands. Congratulations, kids.

Oh, how cute! There's a couple landing on a big Mexican hat. It seems like I've seen them--sure, that's Bob and Ella Mae. Ella Mae is now writing up state board exams for students in Mexico. These space cops are really on the ball today; there's someone getting a parking ticket. That sure is an odd looking space ship. It's built like a couch. No wonder, it's Ethel Mae and WOW! that handsome psychiatrist she married. Ethel is Psychiatry supervisor in Arizona now.

I'm thirsty. Let's go over to the fountain and have a drink of moonshine. Watch out! Step back. Here comes another speed demon and in a space ship built like a horse. That may be someone from Texas. It sure is - Hershhal and Laura and their one, two, three, Oh, four girls. You really did go all out for pediatric nursing, didn't you, Laura?

Doesn't that little space ship built like a deisel engine make you kinda homesick for C&O? Let's get a picture of it. Wait, there's two couples getting out of it. Well, we should have known - it's Sketter and Jan and Frankie and Patsy. Jan is OR. supervisor at C&O now and Patsy is director of nursing service. Sounds like you all are really holding the fort down, girls.

Look! Over there is a couple of girls dressed in moonbeams. They must be permanent residents here. They're coming over here to join our party. Well, of course - it's Jackie and Nancy. Jackie is doing camp nursing and "private duty" with Bill on the side. Nancy finally landed (or should I say "mooned"?) that millionaire so she was the first to establish a school of nursing on the moon. We always knew you would make history, Nancy.

Gee, that's a snazzy white ship coming in out there now. Oh, it's another one of our old classmates - Iva and Waynelee and all the little Zollman's. Iva is the public health nurse at Lexington now. I've seen it all now - check that orchid space ship landing out there made in the form of a beach umbrella and that lady in the full skirts getting out of it. Looks like - why, that's Mary Varney. Seems she had quite a successful marriage and is now the director of a school of nursing in Florida.

Shhh! what's all the commotion at that church down the street? Oh, it's a wedding! Let's get a look at the bride. Oh, I can't believe it - get me another drink of moonshine - quick! It's our own Nancy Keller and Earl Watkins getting married. Our Congratulations! Could the honeymoon wait until after our reunion?

Weren't we the lucky ones to be the first class ever to have our reunion on the moon. I also wonder how we rated this elegant banquet hall. I heard the rumor that our hostess had connections with the owner, a fellow called Ronnie.

Now, I wonder what that surprise is Carolyn said she had for us. Who's that she is bringing out from behind the green door? Well now we are complete - it's our sponsors Miss Ricks and Mrs. Black. My don't they look relaxed and carefree. Oh, I see. Bill and Skippy made them retire September 4, 1959 because they felt that they were in line for a rest after seeing our class through three toilsome years. It was rough, wasn't it, ladies? However, we have enough pleasant memories of our days at C. & O. that we won't have time to talk about the rough days.

Get all those curls in place, Mrs.
Dick.

That smile seems to be contagious,
Miss Varney.

How's that pulse rate, Miss Grimes?

How about a back rub, Miss Powell?

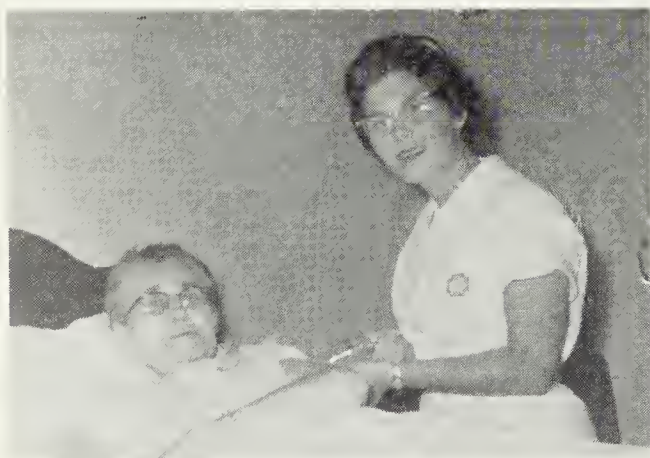

How are your patients today, Mrs. Berry?

Better watch the razor, Miss Unroe.

Did you bring my suntan lotion, Miss Tyree?

Is that a sharp needle, Mrs. Zollman?

I hear that you can really give a good back rub, Mrs. Watkins?

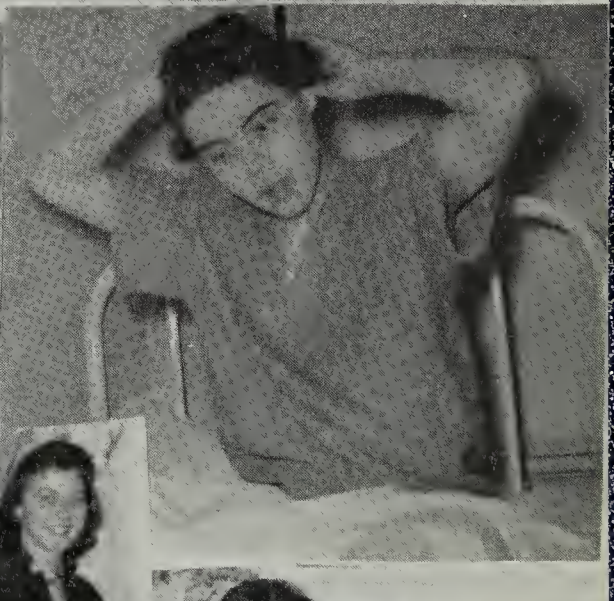

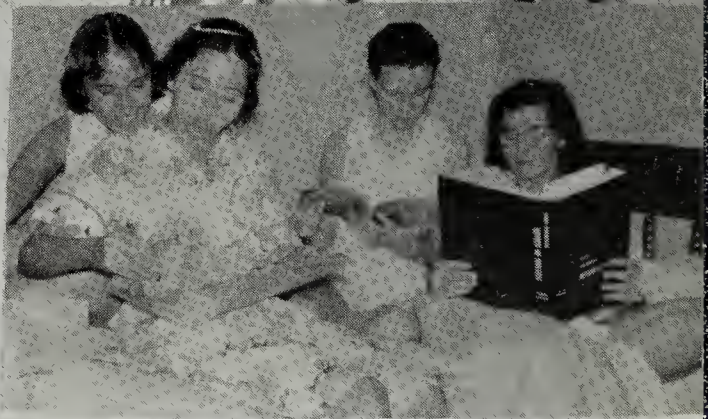

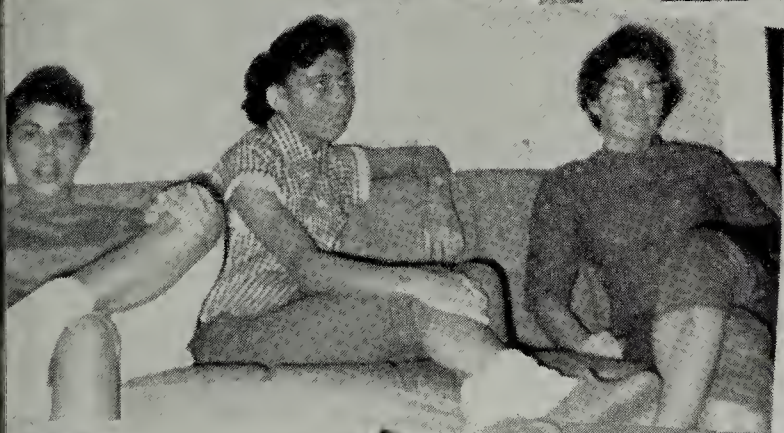

Some people would rather write a letter than watch the birdie.

Doesn't she look like an angel of mercy?

How Times Have Changed!!!

1959

Have you ever stopped to think about our school of Nursing---when it was opened, how many were in the first class, who they were, what the uniforms looked like, where was the first nurses' home? Gosh, I am sure that there are numerous things that interest you and that you would like to know more about. In the next few pages I shall try to furnish you with some information to settle your curiosity and if you were a member of one of the earlier graduating classes, maybe it will bring back some old and happy memories.

THROUGHOUT THE YEARS---HOW THEY DID FLY!

1916 - The Chesapeake and Ohio School of Nursing was organized with Miss E. W. Bauer as Superintendent.

1920 - Dr. John M. Emmett succeeded Dr. Wheeler as Chief Surgeon of our hospital and has continued to hold this position to present.

1925 - Miss Maude Daugherty became Superintendent of the hospital and of the Nurses. Also Miss Daugherty helped to organize the Nurses' Alumnae Association with Miss Anna Ferrie as first president.

1932 - Miss Daugherty resigned and was replaced by Miss Pearl Pope. Miss Pope remained until 1934 when the School of Nursing was discontinued because it was felt that there was a superfluous number of nurses being graduated and a demand for their services did not exist.

1937 - School of Nursing reopened under the direction of Miss Pearl Pope as superintendent.

1941 - A new and modern nurses' home was constructed. Miss Clyde Cox succeeded Miss Pope.

1942 - World War II. A number of nurses entered the armed forces.

1944 - Miss Louise Reynolds was appointed to take over the combined responsibility of Hospital Supt. and Supt. of Nurses.

1946 - Largest class of nurses to graduate.

1949 - Miss Grace Ricks succeeded Miss Carson and was made Educational director of the School, thus assuming direct responsibility of the school of Nursing. Miss Ricks was made Associate Director of the School in 1958.

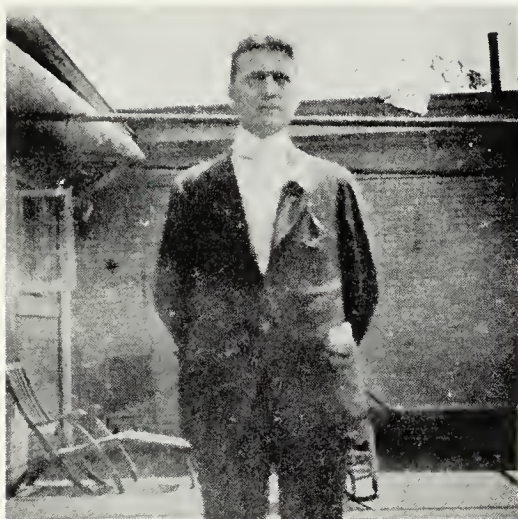

1955 - May 12, 1955 - The new east wing of the hospital was dedicated.

1958 - Our school has met state accreditation requirements and has provisional National accreditation.

— Then and Now

A trip through the years by means of pictures.

One of the first Chief Surgeons -
Dr. Wheeler.

Present Chief Surgeon -
Dr. Emmett.

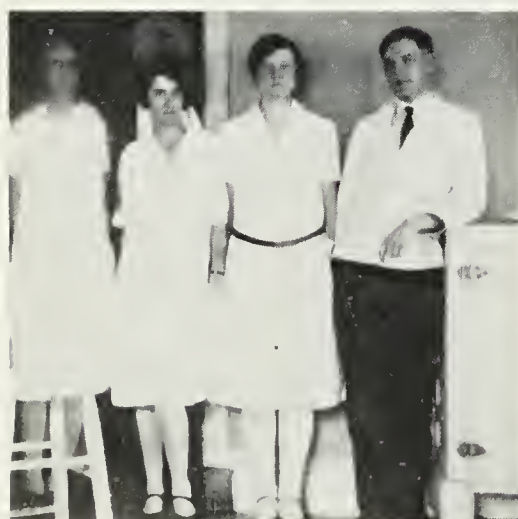

My! How styles have changed!!

This ravishing beauty is one of the first graduates
- Mrs. Lydia Woods. Do you think she's changed much?

Our first Dietitian,
Mrs. Ruth Butler.

Our present Dietitian,
Mrs. Margaret McMinimy.

Have you ever thought about our lab staff of several years back. Notice the difference: (a)
the number of personnel;
(b) the way they dressed;
(c) the old refrigerator.
How did they ever manage?

Do you know any of these students?

Preclinicals then (in front of the old nurses' home - now the annex.

Preclinicals now.

How do you like these caps and uniforms?

Miss Leila Payne

Martians? or What?

These styles didn't change much.

Class of 1921.

Our chief surgeon
Ain't he cute?

Know this surgeon? "Have hip, will pin."

Wonder if he knows what he's doing?

Our chest surgeon,
"livin' breathin' doll,
huh?"
